What is it?

Each lower school year group will read every Thursday tutor time; sixth form tutor groups read on Tuesday.

Tutors will read to students, and students will follow along in their own copies, or students might read to the class. There are reading rulers for those who wish to follow along with these*.

Tutor groups keep their reading records up to date and on display as part of their tutor board.

*Not only does the Eye Level Reading Ruler work to reduce the symptoms of Visual Stress, it also highlights and underlines text, making it easier for the dyslexic reader to keep their place on the page they are reading.

New vocabulary learnt:

We would recommend:

Why?

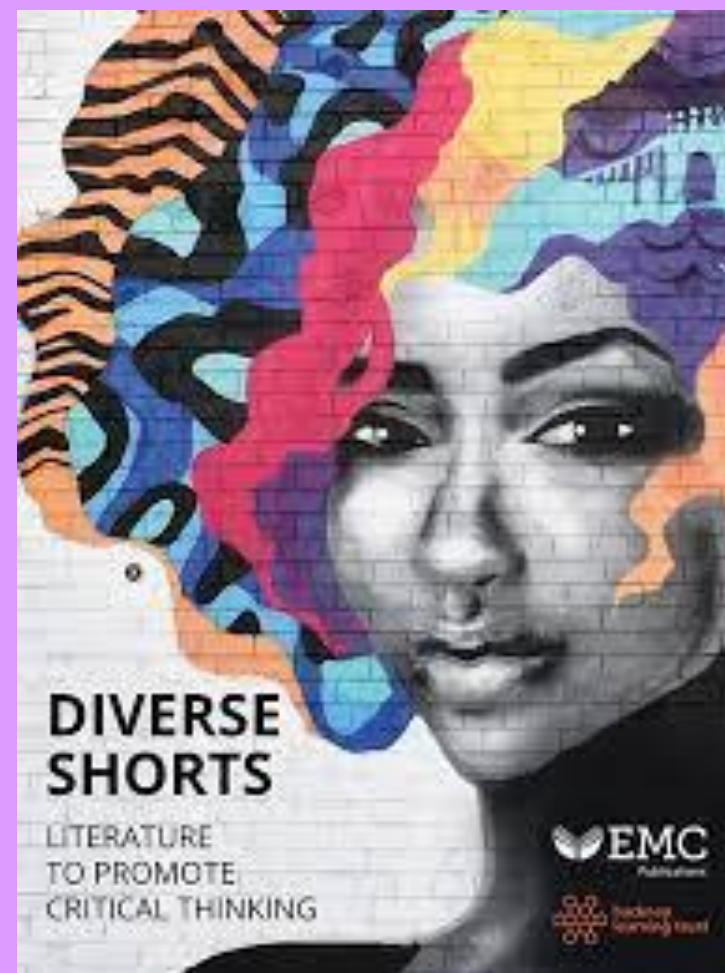

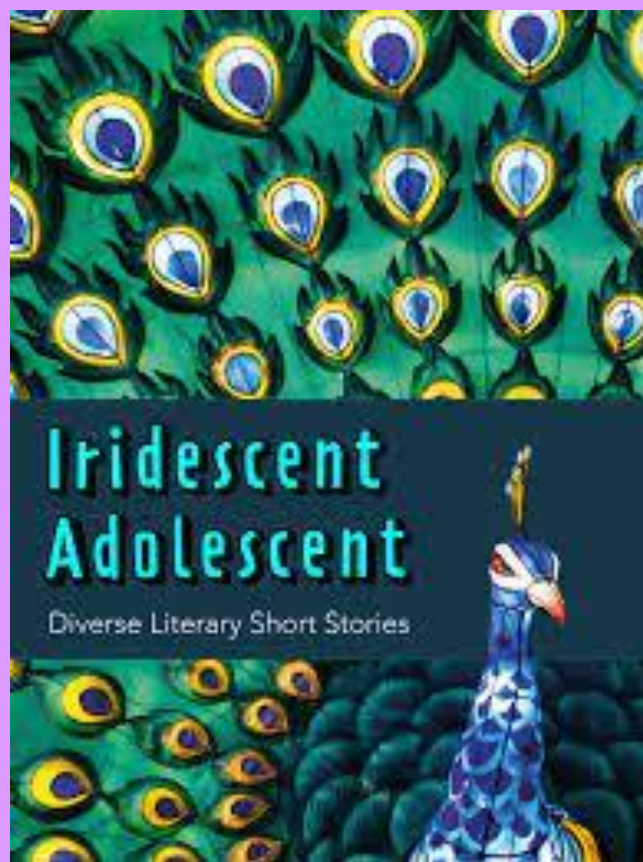

- It closes a gap in cultural capital
- It's an opportunity to acquire new vocabulary and higher level vocabulary
- To develop a reading culture across the whole school
- To encourage reading for pleasure
- To expose students to authors, ideas and experiences they might not otherwise have encountered
- To promote discussion of PSHE topics
- To improve literacy

Year 9 read short story collections

The purchase of these books was all kindly funded by The Wells Literary Festival!

Year 10 read these

Year 11 and sixth form read...

Non-fiction, current affairs articles using our subscription to The Day.

Reading focus

- Can you identify key words?
- Don't understand a word? What does it sound like or remind you of? Is there a section of the word you recognise? Check the glossary!
- Can you link this reading to prior learning?
- Can you summarise what you've read?
